Signs of Spring by Mark Jenkins

SCOTT BEALE · MARCH 31, 2008

The latest project by street artist Mark Jenkins is “Signs of Spring”, featuring street signs that appear to be growing out of the ground in Washington DC. Marks’ previous projects have included the Storker Project and Meterpops.

via Wooster Collective

Scott Beale

Scott Beale founded Laughing Squid in 1995 in San Francisco and is currently based in New York City. He can be found posting on Threads and sharing photos on Instagram.

Recent Posts

An Original Medieval-Style Instrument That Creates Beautiful Harmony With Double Bows

How to Mathematically Cut a Sheet Cake So That Everyone Gets an Equal Amount of Frosting

Rescued Duck Walks Kids to the School Bus Every Day With His Favorite Dog by His Side

Musician Turns the Nokia Ringtone Into a Gorgeous Bach-Style Invention on Classical Guitar

Manualist Musician Plays a Hand Fart Cover of ‘Jingle Bell Rock’

How George Harrison’s ‘All Things Must Pass’ Album Showcased His Songwriting Outside of The Beatles

Check out our Managed WordPress Hosting

Laughing Squid Hosting

Trending on Laughing Squid

Rescued Duck Walks Kids to the School Bus Every Day With His Favorite Dog by His Side

Musician ‘Trains’ Friendly Wild Raccoon to Play His Outdoor Synthesizer

John Mulaney Pitches Your ‘Sister’ as a Free Elder Care Provider in an ‘SNL’ Parody Ad

How to Mathematically Cut a Sheet Cake So That Everyone Gets an Equal Amount of Frosting

How Kids Literally Sucked New York City Subway Tokens Out of Jammed Turnstiles in the 1970s to Resell Them

Our blog posts may contain affiliate links. If you make a purchase through our site, we may earn a small commission.

© 1995-2026 Laughing Squid LLC, all rights reserved