ISCRIVITI ALLA NEWSLETTER

Refuse and subscribe >

Refuse and subscribe >

Style is dedicated to delivering high-quality information to you every day, thanks to the efforts of many journalists, graphic designers, and technicians. To make our news accessible, we use targeted advertising that helps us offset the costs of producing and delivering our services, allowing you to access some of our content for free. Without advertising, access to our services is only available through the purchase of a subscription package. You have the freedom to choose between accessing the basic service by allowing us to deliver personalized advertising or paying for access through the purchase of an equivalent subscription plan.

As stated in the cookie policy, we and third parties use technologies, such as cookies, to collect and process personal data from your devices (e.g. IP address, precise device and geographic location tracking). Your consent is not required to install cookies that provide technical functionality. With your consent, we and certain among 1237 third parties on this list - advertisers as well as advertising market intermediaries involved from time to time - may store information on your device and/or access it, use precise geolocation and identification data by scanning your device, show you personalised advertising and content and measure its performance, conduct audience and market research, and for products and services development. You have the option to freely grant, withhold, or revoke consent for all or some processing purposes by clicking on the "Preferences" button, which is also accessible through our cookie policy. If you decline consent for all or some of the necessary purposes for delivering advertising and personalized content, you will be redirected to a selection of payment options, your privacy choices about cookies apply to this website. You can choose to accept the use of these technologies by clicking "Accept" or decline their use and subscribe by clicking "Refuse and Subscribe".

ACCEPT AND CONTINUE

PREFERENCES

Already a subscriber? Sign in di Michele Ciavarella, da Parigi

Refuse and subscribe >

Refuse and subscribe >

Style is dedicated to delivering high-quality information to you every day, thanks to the efforts of many journalists, graphic designers, and technicians. To make our news accessible, we use targeted advertising that helps us offset the costs of producing and delivering our services, allowing you to access some of our content for free. Without advertising, access to our services is only available through the purchase of a subscription package. You have the freedom to choose between accessing the basic service by allowing us to deliver personalized advertising or paying for access through the purchase of an equivalent subscription plan.

As stated in the cookie policy, we and third parties use technologies, such as cookies, to collect and process personal data from your devices (e.g. IP address, precise device and geographic location tracking). Your consent is not required to install cookies that provide technical functionality. With your consent, we and certain among 1237 third parties on this list - advertisers as well as advertising market intermediaries involved from time to time - may store information on your device and/or access it, use precise geolocation and identification data by scanning your device, show you personalised advertising and content and measure its performance, conduct audience and market research, and for products and services development. You have the option to freely grant, withhold, or revoke consent for all or some processing purposes by clicking on the "Preferences" button, which is also accessible through our cookie policy. If you decline consent for all or some of the necessary purposes for delivering advertising and personalized content, you will be redirected to a selection of payment options, your privacy choices about cookies apply to this website. You can choose to accept the use of these technologies by clicking "Accept" or decline their use and subscribe by clicking "Refuse and Subscribe".

Already a subscriber? Sign in

Prato, Italia, 2017, installazione di Mark Jenkins. Foto Instagram @jenki.ns

Refuse and subscribe ›

Refuse and subscribe ›

Style is dedicated to delivering high-quality information to you every day, thanks to the efforts of many journalists, graphic designers, and technicians. To make our news accessible, we use targeted advertising that helps us offset the costs of producing and delivering our services, allowing you to access some of our content for free. Without advertising, access to our services is only available through the purchase of a subscription package. You have the freedom to choose between accessing the basic service by allowing us to deliver personalized advertising or paying for access through the purchase of an equivalent subscription plan.

As stated in the cookie policy, we and third parties use technologies, such as cookies, to collect and process personal data from your devices (e.g. IP address, precise device and geographic location tracking). Your consent is not required to install cookies that provide technical functionality. With your consent, we and certain among 1237 third parties on this list - advertisers as well as advertising market intermediaries involved from time to time - may store information on your device and/or access it, use precise geolocation and identification data by scanning your device, show you personalised advertising and content and measure its performance, conduct audience and market research, and for products and services development. You have the option to freely grant, withhold, or revoke consent for all or some processing purposes by clicking on the "Preferences" button, which is also accessible through our cookie policy. If you decline consent for all or some of the necessary purposes for delivering advertising and personalized content, you will be redirected to a selection of payment options, your privacy choices about cookies apply to this website. You can choose to accept the use of these technologies by clicking "Accept" or decline their use and subscribe by clicking "Refuse and Subscribe".

Already a subscriber? Sign in

Refuse and subscribe >

Refuse and subscribe >

Style is dedicated to delivering high-quality information to you every day, thanks to the efforts of many journalists, graphic designers, and technicians. To make our news accessible, we use targeted advertising that helps us offset the costs of producing and delivering our services, allowing you to access some of our content for free. Without advertising, access to our services is only available through the purchase of a subscription package. You have the freedom to choose between accessing the basic service by allowing us to deliver personalized advertising or paying for access through the purchase of an equivalent subscription plan.

As stated in the cookie policy, we and third parties use technologies, such as cookies, to collect and process personal data from your devices (e.g. IP address, precise device and geographic location tracking). Your consent is not required to install cookies that provide technical functionality. With your consent, we and certain among 1237 third parties on this list - advertisers as well as advertising market intermediaries involved from time to time - may store information on your device and/or access it, use precise geolocation and identification data by scanning your device, show you personalised advertising and content and measure its performance, conduct audience and market research, and for products and services development. You have the option to freely grant, withhold, or revoke consent for all or some processing purposes by clicking on the "Preferences" button, which is also accessible through our cookie policy. If you decline consent for all or some of the necessary purposes for delivering advertising and personalized content, you will be redirected to a selection of payment options, your privacy choices about cookies apply to this website. You can choose to accept the use of these technologies by clicking "Accept" or decline their use and subscribe by clicking "Refuse and Subscribe".

Already a subscriber? Sign in

Refuse and subscribe >

Refuse and subscribe >

Style is dedicated to delivering high-quality information to you every day, thanks to the efforts of many journalists, graphic designers, and technicians. To make our news accessible, we use targeted advertising that helps us offset the costs of producing and delivering our services, allowing you to access some of our content for free. Without advertising, access to our services is only available through the purchase of a subscription package. You have the freedom to choose between accessing the basic service by allowing us to deliver personalized advertising or paying for access through the purchase of an equivalent subscription plan.

As stated in the cookie policy, we and third parties use technologies, such as cookies, to collect and process personal data from your devices (e.g. IP address, precise device and geographic location tracking). Your consent is not required to install cookies that provide technical functionality. With your consent, we and certain among 1237 third parties on this list - advertisers as well as advertising market intermediaries involved from time to time - may store information on your device and/or access it, use precise geolocation and identification data by scanning your device, show you personalised advertising and content and measure its performance, conduct audience and market research, and for products and services development. You have the option to freely grant, withhold, or revoke consent for all or some processing purposes by clicking on the "Preferences" button, which is also accessible through our cookie policy. If you decline consent for all or some of the necessary purposes for delivering advertising and personalized content, you will be redirected to a selection of payment options, your privacy choices about cookies apply to this website. You can choose to accept the use of these technologies by clicking "Accept" or decline their use and subscribe by clicking "Refuse and Subscribe".

Already a subscriber? Sign in guardaroba maschile. In più, ampie sezioni su orologi, accessori, gadget tecnologici. E poi: curiosità, storie e personaggi dal

Interni

Food & Drink

Tech

Refuse and subscribe >

Refuse and subscribe >

Style is dedicated to delivering high-quality information to you every day, thanks to the efforts of many journalists, graphic designers, and technicians. To make our news accessible, we use targeted advertising that helps us offset the costs of producing and delivering our services, allowing you to access some of our content for free. Without advertising, access to our services is only available through the purchase of a subscription package. You have the freedom to choose between accessing the basic service by allowing us to deliver personalized advertising or paying for access through the purchase of an equivalent subscription plan.

As stated in the cookie policy, we and third parties use technologies, such as cookies, to collect and process personal data from your devices (e.g. IP address, precise device and geographic location tracking). Your consent is not required to install cookies that provide technical functionality. With your consent, we and certain among 1237 third parties on this list - advertisers as well as advertising market intermediaries involved from time to time - may store information on your device and/or access it, use precise geolocation and identification data by scanning your device, show you personalised advertising and content and measure its performance, conduct audience and market research, and for products and services development. You have the option to freely grant, withhold, or revoke consent for all or some processing purposes by clicking on the "Preferences" button, which is also accessible through our cookie policy. If you decline consent for all or some of the necessary purposes for delivering advertising and personalized content, you will be redirected to a selection of payment options, your privacy choices about cookies apply to this website. You can choose to accept the use of these technologies by clicking "Accept" or decline their use and subscribe by clicking "Refuse and Subscribe".

Already a subscriber? Sign in